spring sports

tennis

The Bethel tennis team scored its only season victory over Kansas Wesleyan. However, the season had its bright spots. Many of the matches were lost only after a long hard battle in the third match. The freshman member of the team, Charlie Graber, won his way into the semi-finals of the KCAC Tournament, thereby pointing to the possibility of a brighter future. Other members of the team were Jerry Perdue, Gary Unruh, Gene Burgmen, and Tony Epp.

Jerry Perdue winds up for one of his smashing spinners.

Gary Unruh concludes a hard, fast serve.

track

Don Enns, holder of the 1.58.1 school record in the half mile.

Bob Pankratz curling around the bar. Bob holds the conference high jump record of 6'4⅝".

spring sports

The 1963 track squad had some good performers but lacked depth. The twelve man squad in several meets managed to capture more firsts than the opposition, but could not accumulate enough points from seconds and thirds to win the meets.

Outstanding performers during the season were: Don Enns who set a new school record in the half mile when he finished second in the KCAC meet with a 1.58.1 clocking; Bob Waltner who captured the gold medal in the pole vault in the KCAC for the third consecutive year; and Bob Pankratz who won the high jump in most meets and came through with a second in the conference.

Other lettermen are: Gene Mengarelli, shot and discus, finished 5th in KCAC discus; Kenneth Graber, javelin; Jim Friesen, 440 yd. dash; George Arnold, 880 yd. run; Gerald Gaeddert, pole vault; Lonnie Goering, mile and two mile; and Eugene Goering, 880 yd. run.

Bob Waltner, KCAC champion pole vaulter for the third consecutive year.

Two freshman boys, Eugene Goering and Lonnie Goering, handing off the baton in the mile relay.

spring drama

A tragedy ". . . golden with the bright of morning and heavy with the death of all bright things. . . ."* Romeo and Juliet is a story of young love. Pervaded by the conflict of love and hate, and different attitudes toward love, this is the tale of two youthful lovers who are destined to die shortly because an ancient fued between their families becomes an explosive chain reaction of obstacles preventing them from attaining happiness in a life together.

*Marchette Chute, "Romeo and Juliet," Stories from Shakespeare, (New York: Mentor Books, 1956), p. 113.

The theme of the Junior-Senior banquet was based on ancient Greek culture.

jr.–sr. banquet

The Junior-Senior banquet was held in an atmosphere of Classical Greece. The banquet hall was arrayed with Greek decorations which included Corinthian columns, a water fountain, planters and urns. The banquet tables were lowered, and the students sat cross-legged on cushions as they enjoyed a tasty meal in the semidarkness.

oratorio

The seventy-fifth anniversary music-lecture series was concluded on Sunday, May 12. Dr. Charles C. Earlier Years As A Professor dedication

1962-63 Chapel Talk

Professor Emeritus David Richert, better known as Uncle Davy, at 88, is a living example of perpetual youth. In this 75th anniversary year, faculty and students alike look to the man who epitomizes the spirit of vitality which founded and sustains this college. Many years of teaching have given him a boundless interest in people, especially students. He says that association with young people keeps him young.

Uncle Davy's sixty year long teaching career began at Moundridge where he taught four years before receiving a call from Bethel. At Bethel, full professorship responsibilities lasted until he was seventy. Then for another four years, he taught only one class, astronomy.

Uncle Davy spent his undergraduate years at Oberlin. Originally, he planned to major in philosophy, but he became intrigued with the laws governing celestial bodies. Determining to understand these laws, he found himself being absorbed in the study of mathematics and astronomy. As a result, he became a college professor, passing the knowledge he had acquired on to others.

Many of the students who were recipients of his enthusiasm and perseverance have attained academic honors. Remembering his students with pride, he beams with their every accomplishment; and when they come back to visit him, he greets them with joyful anticipation.

Plans for the future

FACULTY & ADMINISTRATION

C. H. Wedel, First Bethel College President

a message from the president

The 1962-63 school year has been eventful and meaningful. There have been significant developments, new friendships, exciting events, important decisions, and, of course, some disappointments. But all in all it has been a good year.

The Thresher once more has attempted to represent and preserve as much as possible the moving drama of the year. This it has done well. Our gratitude is expressed to the editor and his associates for a difficult task well performed.

The seventy-fifth anniversary year of Bethel College is now history. We are reminded of the service of Bethel through the years. Now it is for the students of this generation to direct and develop the College in the future as their parents and grandparents did before them. This is my hope for those who were students of Bethel during this anniversary year of 1962-63.

ORGANIZATIONS

One of the more unique organizations in the early years of Bethel College was this dumbbell hefting, girls' Phys. Ed. club.

student council

The Student Council, as a representative organization of the Student Body, must involve itself as a coordinator between students, organizations, and administration by continually seeking to promote the general interest of the students. Specific Student Council activities to fulfill this purpose included the consideration of the Honor Principle, the introduction of the People to People program, and the revision of the Collegian and Student Council election procedures.

education policies

During the year, the Education Policies Committee has devoted much thought to catalog revisions for the 1963-65 edition, has revised the Associate in Arts Degree as a liberal arts degree, and has begun the study of aims and objectives for Bethel College.

student policies

The Student Policies Committee deals with problems concerning the students such as eligibility for the Junior-Senior Banquet, an investigation of the health service of Bethel College, and the relationship of extracurricular activities to that of scholastic activities in terms of the time spent on each by the students.

student-faculty committees

citizenship council

The Citizenship Council has concerned itself with research and contact with many colleges and universities in its preparation of a preliminary constitution to promote the Honor System on the Bethel College campus.

The Religious Life Committee has had the responsibility of planning the worship services and convocations for the student body in addition to arranging special religious lectures throughout the year. This committee brought to the campus such lecturers as Dr. William Klaassen for Christian Life Week, Dr. James Hastings Nichols for Menno Simons lectures, and Dr. Eric Rust for Bible Week.

student-faculty planning and development

The Planning and Development Committee is responsible to devise, amend, alter, or repeal policies and plans in the general area of long-range planning. This includes a concern for growth in enrollment, planning the renovations, remodeling, revising of existing facilities, determining classroom, laboratory, dormitory, and other needs, campus planning, location of buildings, parks, walks, roads, and parking lots.

This past year the committee has given consideration to the future of the museum and a student center. It has also made a survey through the division chairmen concerning the future plan and equipment needs for each of the departments for a projected enrollment of 800 students.

international student committee

The International Student Committee, established this year, is concerned with promoting the interests of the international students on the Bethel campus by sponsoring activities of special interest to them.

women's governing council

The Women's Governing Council aims to provide a family atmosphere and spirit of goodwill among all resident women students while regulating the matters of conduct involved in dormitory residence. It attempts to establish a high standard of conduct among the girls themselves. Several all-girl parties were sponsored by this organization.

L-R: 1st Row: Leanna Goering—Secretary-Treasurer, Jeanette Harder, Theora Pauls, Mary Graber, Ann Suderman, Winifred Kaufman.

student organizations

math club

The Math Club strives to promote the spirit of mathematics through association with others of mathematical inclination. Students have the opportunity to present seminar projects and material not studied in the classroom and to profit from presentations of mathematical knowledge by persons outside the immediate department.

philosophy club

The Philosophy Club provides the opportunity for informal discussion of interesting contemporary philosophical issues which are not touched upon in the classroom. Leadership of the discussions this year was passed from member to member in the setting of Dr. Gross's home. The topic of discussion for two quarters was Wilhelm Dilthey's Essence of Philosophy. The remaining quarter was involved with Zen Buddhism.

biology club

Members of the Biology Club were faced with varied topics of biological interest, especially through the presentation of seminar papers by the upperclass Biology majors.

home economics club

The Home Economics Chapter of Bethel plays a vital role in the social life of coeds interested in Home Economics. This year the chapter had a variety of new activities such as a pizza party, a Christmas visit to the Home for the Aged, a style show, and a spring ice-cream social.

1st Row: Janett Duerksen—Publicity Chairman, Jeanette Harder, Bonnie Neufeld—President, Margaret Kroeker—Secretary, Connie Epp—Vice-President.

phi beta lambda

Bethel College sponsors a chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, a national business students' fraternity open to students majoring in Economics and Business Administration. Professional information and social opportunities are combined as the group holds monthly meetings, attends workshops of the organization, and participates in the annual state convention. The highlight of this year's activities was an Economics Workshop for Kansas colleges sponsored by Bethel College in October.

The Student National Education Association is a professional organization for students interested in teaching. In providing information about the teaching profession to prospective teachers, the club has sponsored films, panel discussions, and an elementary school art exhibit. The most recent project has been a book drive for Asian students.

circle k

The Circle K Club, which is the counterpart to Beta Kappa, is open to all interested men students. It is primarily a service organization which functions in close partnership with the local Kiwanis Club. Its main service this year was to take tickets at athletic functions.

1st Row: Paul Linscheid, Fred Stroh—President, Wesley Buller.
2nd Row: Daryl Schmidt, Don Regier, Ronald Ediger, Barry Hieb.
3rd Row: Elmer James Friesen, Fred Dick, John Preheim, Francis Rensberger.

beta kappa

The Beta Kappa is a girls' service organization which functions at school activities. Members ushered at football and basketball games, Memorial Hall Series, Children's Theatre, and all the remaining fine arts productions. The organization attempted to promote loyalty and enthusiasm among all Bethel students. The special projects this year included the presentation of a Christmas program at Prairie View Hospital and the sponsoring of an Easter egg hunt for the faculty children.

student christian fellowship

The Student Christian Fellowship consists of independent seminar groups of ten to twenty-five members plus the Peace Council. Each individual group carries out its own program of weekly discussions led by students and non-student participants who are members of the college faculty or of the Bethel College Church. Activities and programs for all the seminars included an overnight retreat last September, a Christmas caroling party, several morning meditations, a panel on vocational choices for Christian young people, and a workday in March.

collegian staff

The Collegian staff has the responsibility of publishing the bimonthly college student newspaper which informs its readers of campus events, news, entertainment, and various other features of interest.

Seated: Werner Fransen—Editor, Barbara Eymann—Assistant Editor.

organ guild

The organ guild is comprised of individuals interested in church music, organ repertoire, and other areas of interest to church organists. A member of the American Guild of Organists, the Bethel College chapter has sponsored organ concerts, visited churches, and attended organ concerts throughout the state.

L-R: Rachel Unruh—Vice-President, Ruth Franklin, Bernice Zerger—Program Chairman, Alice Loewen—Adviser, Marcia Krehbiel, Charlene Friesen, Diann Galle—Secretary-Treasurer, Randall Zercher—President, Karen Voth, Elaine Klaassen..

thresher staff

The Thresher staff worked diligently to compile the yearbook. Credit must also go to all committee chairmen who contributed ideas concerning the activities of their organizations this past year and to David E. Schmidt who wrote our dedication to "Uncle Davy."

KBCT, the campus radio station, now in its second year of operation, has steadily improved the quality of its programming. An increased operating schedule permitted more fine music and local programming.

recreation council

Promoting enthusiasm in campus life, the Rec Council has initiated a variety of socials, parties, thought-provoking films, and other informal recreation for relaxation and entertainment. The blending of ideas of students from various cultures has been encouraged by putting oriental "foods and functions" into campus reality. This year the purchasing and upkeep of new games and a television have promoted activity in the student union.

cheerleaders

The cheerleaders have devoted much time and effort this year to give exceptional performances at all the athletic contests.

football

Our squad, being young and small numerically, had to take some hard knocks in the early part of the season against superior teams. The Threshers, however, profited tremendously by their early experiences because they were intent in studying their mistakes and then worked hard to correct them. As a result the team won or tied five out of the last six games.

college choir

The College Choir has been unusually busy this past year. In addition to presenting the regular repertoire, the choir has performed in the Mass in G by Schubert, the Requiem in D by Bach, and the Requiem by Brahms. The latter concert was given in cooperation with the Tabor College Choir. Other performances have included the Seven Last Words of Christ by DuBois and Thus Saith the Lord by J. Harold Moyer.

Highlighting the season was a tour between winter and spring quarters. The choir sang in Beatrice, Nebraska; Henderson, Nebraska; Freeman, South Dakota; Mountain Lake, Minnesota; and Kansas State University. Local concerts were also given on Sunday evenings.

chapel choir

The Chapel Choir sang regularly for the Wednesday worship service held in the College Church Sanctuary. At Christmas time it performed Vivaldi's "Gloria" and at Easter "Christ Lay in Bonds of Death" by J. S. Bach, both with instrumental ensemble accompaniment.

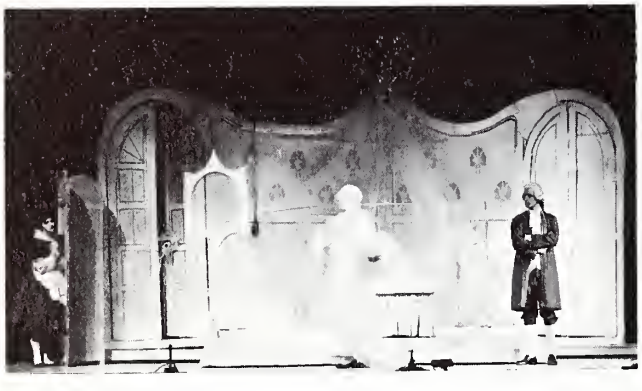
the marriage of figaro

by W. A. Mozart

Cast:
Count: Doyle Preheim
Countess: Rosalind Enns
Figaro: Lynn Simpson
Susanna: Carol Peters
Cherubino: Charlene Waltner
Marcellino: Ruth Ewy
Basilio: Ken Riesen
Bartolo: E. James Friesen
Antonio: Paul Wiens
Barbarina: Donna Epp

The Marriage of Figaro is a comic opera, set in the 17th century. The Count is trying to continue an affair with his maid Susanna. Figaro is to marry Susanna, but has also promised to marry Marcellino. The whole opera deals with the comic antics of Figaro, the Countess, and Susanna to stop the Count's advances to Susanna and to nullify Figaro's promise of marriage to Marcellino.



The Count accuses the Countess of adultery while Susanna and Cherubina watch unnoticed.

The Count reads the note of intrigue after the two couples are married.

The Count discovers Cherubino in Susanna's bedroom as Figaro hides in a closet.

Beulah Moulsworth: Rosella Krehbiel
Evdokia Romanoff: Marilyn Bartel
Junior Captain: Patsy Krehbiel
Freddie Vanderstuyt: Tom Mast
Archbishop: Orvin Voth

As indicated by the title, the play is a love story, with the two lovers being of opposite factions. The setting is modern, taking place in a satellite of the East. The two opposite factions are the East-West controversy of modern times, as represented by the son and daughter of opposing ambassadors. It is satirical of the present situation, but has a deep meaning concerning brotherly love.

While the ancient cathedral clock tolls the incorrect hour, the general terminates for his tiny romantic country the cold war between the East and the West.

THE SANDBOX
by Edward Albee

Cast:
Directed by Lois Marie Peters
Mommie: Kathy Koop
Daddie: Jake Goering
Musician: Edwin Ralph Peters
Death Angel: Gurney Lofland
Grandma: LaVerle Dirks

Edward Albee is the American contributor to the "theatre of the absurd" which usually attempts to place before us a simple theme which upon examination becomes extremely complex. In The Sandbox as in The American Dream Albee pours scorn on the sentimental ideals of family life, togetherness, and physical fitness.

The Musician accompanies and Death awaits as Mommie and Daddie are superficially concerned with Grandma dying.

THE DOCTOR IN SPITE OF HIMSELF
by Moliere

Cast:
Directed by Marilyn Bartel
Sganarelle, Martine's husband: Leann Schrag
Martine, Sganarelle's wife: Patsy Krehbiel
M. Robert, Sganarelle's neighbor: Carol Voth
Valere, Geronte's servant: Sandi Krocker

Jacqueline, Lucas' wife, and nurse in Geronte's home: Elaine Krocker
Lucinde: Geronte's daughter: Sandi Schrag
Geronte, a country gentleman: Judy Woelk
Leandre, Lucinde's lover: Jamie Quiring

Jean Baptiste Poquelin (Moliere), 17th Century French comedy playwright-actor and director, completely overwhelmed the French comic theatre. The constant competition between Moliere and the other French Classic writer, the tragedian Racine, kept the Paris theatre crowd busily in attendance. This season's French selection is a slap-stick farce parodying the medical profession. Because Moliere was often sick and never made well by the doctors of his day he learned to poke delightful fun at the practitioners.

Geronte, a country gentleman: Judy Woelk.

Lucinde, Geronte's daughter: Sandie Schrag.

Valdimir: Bruce Grey Estragon: Jim Stucky Pozzo: Ronald Hatchett Lucky: Lauren Friesen

waiting for godot

by Samuel Beckett

Waiting for Godot belongs to the Theatre of the Absurd. The value of this is that it is not clear-cut in its communication and forces the audience to come to its own conclusions. The main theme of the play is "waiting" and it is up to the audience to determine for themselves what they are waiting for.

CAST: Valdimir: Bruce Grey; Estragon: Jim Stucky; Pozzo: Ronald Hatchett; Lucky: Lauren Friesen; A boy: Tim Preheim.

Willy Loman, a salesman, is a typical product of the economic system of America. He wants it to be like "the old days," when he was a success. He convinces himself he is a success but in actuality is nothing but a low type of failure. In trying to sell himself to his family and business cohorts, he draws the strings of failure closer around his neck until finally Willy Loman no longer exists.

As the city of Brooklyn closes in on their lost lives, Willy speaks his "remembrances" as he searches through the thirty-year-old refrigerator; Biff and Hap tell of past accomplishments; Linda awaits her husband's return.

founder's day / mem hall series bible lectures

Students had many occasions to hear outstanding lectures and music through the 75th anniversary Music-Lecture Series and the Christian-Emphasis Weeks. Sidney Lens, The Honorable Paul Douglass and the Wichita Symphony appeared as a part of the Music-Lecture Series. James Hastings Nichols lectured for Menno Simons Week, Dr. Eric Rust for Bible Week, and Dr. William Klaassen for Christian Life Week.
